"Inspiring People through Inspirational Ministry"

Author

I have been writing sermons for the past 20 years. Winning People, Losing America is my first published work. This new manuscript has been published as a standalone book rather than a compilation of sermonic writings carefully interwoven together as I originally thought. Also, I maintain a blog under the Blogging with PC “OFT” (Opinion, Fact or Truth) brand. My blogs may be found on Tumblr here: <http://easeyoursoul.tumblr.com>, and on the Zion City website here: <http://www.zioncity.org/blogs/>.

About my new book!

Secular society coupled with religious culture has inadvertently created a climate in America that praises political correctness and legislation of questionable laws. Religious Traditionalists must now contend with how to remain spiritually relevant in perilous times and in the face of polarizing issues without compromising age old biblical practices and principles. Winning People, Losing America, though provocative, isn’t meant to be divisive, but rather bring people together over divisive issues.

“This book constitutes my response to a number of polarizing issues we face today in religion and politics all delivered through the metaphoric lens of football.”

“Inspiring People through Inspirational Messages”

Composer

“Inspiring People through Inspirational Moments”

Composing and arranging songs and producing music is my first love. I fell in love with music listening to the radio when artists and audiences alike could boast of the enriched pure quality of songs we heard playing over the airwaves way back when. Sure there are still some amazing artists out there today, but with the advances in technology giving access to anybody and everybody they are hard to decipher.

Who could argue with the likes of Lionel Richie, Kenny Rogers, Dolly Parton, Cool & the Gang, the Gap Band, Earth, Wind & Fire, Michael Jackson, Prince, Morris Day & The Time, Cameo, Journey, and all the artists and songs the 80’s brought us?

I remember listening to the radio one day only to experience a short spell where none of the music I heard was catching. It was then that I said to myself, “I’m going to write my own song.”

When I came across a set of Gospel tapes featuring Jesse Dixon, Andre Crouch, Walter Hawkins, and the Winans, I knew then what I wanted to be and do with my life. Since church was all I knew, this new contemporary style of music I was hearing for the first time was an epiphany.

Then, Commissioned came out and I would never be the same. Over the years I have grown and expanded in my composition styles with influences ranging from Milton Brunson, Fred Hammond, Kirk Franklin, to producers Jam & Lewis, J Moss and PAJAM.

From time with dad, mom, my brothers and their families, and my lovely mom-in-law, every chance I get to hang out with my wife, four (4) children, and dog Othello, I take it. We love big time movies, popular TV shows like “The Flash”, and creating new memories by traveling together to discover new places, new dine-ins and delicious delicacies, and new dream home timeshare destinations. The McNair Family Legacy is an amazing legacy of family and love. Check out the McNair Legacy Song on my 4th CD “Audition”.
